

Through Power2Act we support our solidary employees

Corporate responsibility

As a socially engaged company, ENGIE has launched the internal Power2Act program. This program supports ENGIE employees who volunteer their free time for solidarity projects.

The energy of our people, that's what drives us!

Every day, dozens of employees of the various ENGIE subsidiaries dedicate themselves completely selflessly to associations that make the world around us a better place.

Promoting solidarity

Nine years ago, ENGIE set up the internal Power2Act program. This program fits perfectly within its social commitment as a responsible company. Each year, ENGIE supports various employees through a project call by giving a financial boost to the associations in which they are active in their spare time. Indeed, Power2Act wants to encourage the dialogue between our company and the associations by supporting projects that promote solidarity.

High-quality projects

This year, a jury of employees selected 33 projects from 34 colleagues - our Power Heroes - based on predetermined and transparent criteria. These projects include charities, projects that fight social exclusion or initiatives that promote solidarity in our society. Since the first edition in 2011, 431 colleagues have applied and 206 projects have been supported.

Are you an ENGIE employee who is active in an association ? Then maybe you are one of our next Power Heroes !

Do you have a question regarding the tenth edition of Power2Act ? Don't hesitate to send an email to power2act@engie.com.

Sharing strong values with employees

A program like Power2Act shows that ENGIE wants to be a local player, a responsible company and a motivated partner. It is also an opportunity for the company to share strong values with its employees.

“ That's why Power2Act is so close to my heart. It reminds me every year why I am so proud to be part of this company. Moreover, it is an honour for us to be able to contribute to these remarkable initiatives supported by our colleagues. ”

Philippe Van Troeye, CEO ENGIE Benelux
